To milk
To mother
To earth
To breath
To be

To life and death I bow beyond my control I must make this vow my fear my love is that you could never know I cherish your presence like first snow that night we walked, I had no idea my heart would be broken by the very idea that someday may come when I couldn't feel your touch your warmth, your kiss, your constant presence bliss constant lament your are everything to me, desire, fire my womb

mother earth, The moon, stabilize, eyes, tides birth cleansing sea
not even death, oceans, nothing will seperate me for eternity, beyond life I will find my love my life soul you a part of me, not even death could make us part like a pool of water, & reflections in the breeze and leaves I sense your presence - great essence just by being there ~~knew~~ I learned the greatest A listener, my voice, I talk too much lessons caught in the outer entanglement I fear the void (words, my own annoyed) a fail of my own mind, lion days and roars @ the wasted time, but I only need relax & breathe you pump my heart and move my feet.

my greatest teacher my closest friend I give you my heart, dont be shy to tug on my pinky ~ heart string for I still forget to breathe and as much as live seen, I worry someday this might leave
